

Gaussian Process Regression

RSMs and Computer Experiments

Robert B. Gramacy (rbg@vt.edu (<mailto:rbg@vt.edu>) : <http://bobby.gramacy.com> (<http://bobby.gramacy.com>))

Department of Statistics, Virginia Tech

Goals

T

From

What do we observe? Pretty much the same thing as in the 1d case. We find $\frac{d\langle x \rangle}{dt} = \frac{\hbar}{m} \langle p \rangle$. The spread Δx does not increase with time.

